The Positive Effects Of Supporting The People And Charities In Your Community

At Nexicom we strongly believe in the vital importance of supporting the people and charitable causes in our communities. Either through sponsorship, in-kind donations, volunteerism, or the sharing of information and brand awareness, Nexicom has been a leader in good community stewardship and philanthropic support throughout the communities we serve.

From children's education and senior's support programs, to animal welfare and medical research, Nexicom strongly believes in the need for local area companies, corporations and individuals to support the local area people in need and charities whenever and however possible.

The concept of Pay it Forward (when someone does a good deed for you, instead of paying them back, pay it forward by doing a good deed for someone else) truly helps to bring people and communities closer. The incredible benefits that those most in-need receive from charitable work is very similar to the positive effects experienced by those who provide their time or money to help.

Here are a few reasons everyone should consider supporting a person or charity in-need:

- 1. Experience More Pleasure: Research shows that participants who chose to donate a portion of their income enjoyed activated pleasure centres in the brain. Donating simply makes you feel better, which is something we can all benefit from.
- 2. Help Others in Need: We don't live in a perfect world, and there's never going to be a perfect time to give but there are always people out there in need of help. The reality is that when you donate, you help others who truly need it.
- 3. Get a Tax Deduction: Most charities provide a tax donation receipt as a thank you for supporting their cause. Donating your cash is a great way to reduce the amount of money you pay the CRA.
- 4. Bring More Meaning to Your Life: When you donate to charity, you create opportunities to meet new people who believe in the same causes that inspire you. That, and making a real impact on those causes, can infuse your daily life with more meaning.
- 5. Promote Generosity in Your Children: When your kids see you volunteering your time or donating to charity, they're more likely to adopt a giving and generous mindset as they grow up.
- 6. Motivate Friends and Family: When you let your friends and family know your acts of charitable goodwill, they may find themselves more motivated to undertake their own efforts to give.
- 7. Realize that Every Little Bit Helps: You don't need $10,000 to make a difference in someone's life. Even just a few dollars or some of your time can result in providing meals for hungry children, much needed medical attention, or improved quality of life.
- 8. Give, If You Can't Volunteer: If you're too busy to volunteer or otherwise donate your time, giving money is the perfect solution. Writing out a cheque is a simple way to show you're willing to help others in any way you can.
