The 3 New Year's Tech Resolutions You Should Make For 2019

Now is the perfect time to reflect on the past and think of all the ways you can make this coming year your best one yet. Maybe you've already come up with changes you want to make to improve your financial situation, relationships, or health. With technology playing such a central role in our lives, you might also want to consider a few more.

Here are 3 tech resolutions that will help make your 2019 better!

1. Make privacy settings work in your favor

Default privacy settings are default for a reason: they give companies as much information about you as possible without you thinking anything of it. This means more ad money for the seller, but also that you share way more about yourself than you probably thought. So, check the boxes, make sure your private information stays private, really read the terms and conditions, and don't grant permissions just because an app made that suggestion — ask yourself "why?" first.

2. Get organized

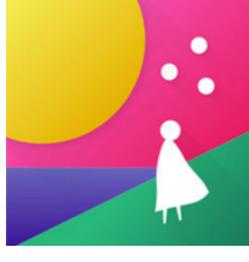

When was the last time you backed up your files? Have you unsubscribed from all the email lists or services you no longer use? Hopefully the answer is "this week," but for most of us, it's been a while. What better way to start 2019 fresh than to get rid of files you no longer need, as well remember to back up those that are most important. For security purposes, organize all of your passwords in one place that is both secure and easily accessible. Do not share your passwords!

3. Stop delaying updates

How many times have you clicked "Remind me tomorrow" or "Not now" when update notifications pop up? Nobody has time to stop everything and get a newer version of the same software. However, keeping your devices up-to-date is one of the easiest ways to protect yourself against new security risks and privacy threats. The next time an update reminder pops up, get excited!

Nexicom would like to wish everyone a healthy and happy 2019.

Sites of the Month - Great Sites To Check Out In January

Canadian Blood Services
blood.ca/en – Canadian Blood Services provides medical assistance involving blood, plasma, stem cells, organs, and tissues. Recipients are patients with cancer and other diseases, transplant recipients, and accident victims. Healthy individuals can make an enormous difference by donating. Use the sites' resources to be sure you're eligible to donate and find a donor centre.

Winter Car Readiness
almanac.com – Winter storms can be brutal, and you don't want to be caught driving in one without the proper equipment. Use this Old Farmer's Almanac list to ensure you have everything you might need. Items include a flashlight and extra batteries, tire chains, and a sleeping bag — just in case!

Best Soup Recipes
tasteofhome.com – There's nothing quite like a steaming bowl of soup you up on a winter day. Visit this site to find some great recipes like Hearty Vegetable, Split Pea, Potato, and, of course, classic Chicken Noodle. Pair with bread and a salad for a delicious and comforting meal.

Global Radio Broadcasts
radio.garden – This fascinating site allows you to listen to global radio broadcasts. Click Live to hear a random station currently playing, or choose one on the globe. Try History to listen to clips from past broadcasts. Jobs plays station identification numbers. Use it to connect with other people, countries, and cultures.

Short Tutorial/FAQ - Can My Facebook Cover Be A Video Instead Of A Photo? If So, How Is It Done?

Question: A friend told me Facebook allows you to make your cover photo a video. Is that really possible? If so, how can I do it?

Answer: Yes, you can, and it's pretty easy, too. Before you do it, though, note that your video must adhere to certain specifications...
