Sites of the Month - Great Sites To Check Out In September

Let Go Of Old Stuff
ca.letgo.com – The letgo app is like other apps where you can sell your stuff with one important exception: you don't have to worry about creating a description. The app does it for you using artificial intelligence and image recognition based on a photo you upload. Of course, it's also a great place to find used items to buy.

Explore The Cosmos
nasa.gov – The NASA website always has something fascinating going on. Right now, you can get the details on the Parker Solar Probe, a recently launched spacecraft on its way to the Sun! Also check out the agency's accomplishments as it approaches its 60th anniversary as well as its plans for exciting future missions.

True Stories Told Live
themoth.org – The Moth is an organization that promotes live storytelling. Visit this website to find upcoming events near you, listen to recordings of others' stories, or submit a pitch to tell your own. Check out the Storytelling Tips & Tricks page to get some hints for your next social gathering.

Attack Of The Cute
attackofthecute.com – Time to get your "awwwwws" out! This collection of beyond-adorable puppies, kittens, and other "super-cute" animals will make you forget about work, laundry, and the news. Vote for your favorites with an "it's so cute!" rating, or "it's so fluffy" or "meh" if you're not as impressed.

Short Tutorial/FAQ - How Can I Stay Safe While Shopping Online?

Question: Now that the kids are back at school, I have time to think about what's next. I'd love to get ahead of holiday shopping, but I know there are more cyberthreats out there all the time. What can I do to stay safe?

Answer: Knowing about the threats is the first step in avoiding them, so you've already taken one important measure. Here are some additional tips...
